The heart of the Columbia Museum of Art is its collection, which encompasses 7,000 works of art and activities for all ages. The museum, founded in 1964, features one of the largest collections of paintings by American artists in the country, highlighting the contributions of Thomas Hart Benton, Mary Cassatt and others. It's also home to a wide range of temporary exhibits, workshops and educational programs. The museum is open daily except for Thanksgiving, Christmas Day and New Year's Day. For more information, see the museum’s website or Facebook page.

The Columbia Museum of Art is located at 106 North Main Street, Columbia, SC 29201. Visitor services include a gift shop, cafe, and restrooms. The museum also offers guided tours and self-guided audio tours. For more information, visit the museum’s website or call (803) 779-3136.
